SHOOTER IN THE PARIS JAIL

The latest reports of the Bourbon county branch of the Co-operative Burley Tobacco Marketing Association shows that up to the present time 7,559,988 pounds of Bourbon's 1921 tobacco crop is pledged to the Association.

Fifty-seven contracts, representing 189,610 pounds of tobacco, were received at the offices of the Association, in Lexington, from Chairman Sam Clay, of Bourbon county, which has already passed the eighty-five per cent mark in its campaign to pledge the crop to the marketing plan of the Association.

Arthur B. Hancock, John Woodford, Sam Clay, James M. Caldwell and Wm. Collins, have returned from Tennessee, where they have been engaged in starting the campaign. Mr. Caldwell stated that the plan had been well received by the growers of Tennessee, and that he believed that all the growers they had visited, would sign the contract. Mr. Caldwell said the Bourbon county men, all prominent farmers and workers in the drive that had given Bourbon county eighty-five per cent of her crop signed to the Association, had made a good impression on the farmers of Tennessee. He said that most of the tobacco crops in the State were small. The system of selling is the same that has been used in Kentucky, over loose leaf warehouse floors, and the result last year was disappointing and discouraging, as it was in Kentucky.

"MOONSHINERS" ARRESTED

Charged with setting up and operating a "moonshine" still in defiance of the prohibition laws, B. McFeeney and Cary Wagoner, residents of the county, were arrested on the Joe Redmon farm near Paris yesterday by Sheriff Will G. McClintock and Deputy Sheriff R. M. Gilkey, and brought to the Paris jail. When the officers swooped down on the place they found four barrels of "mash" all ready for the still, and fires burning. The men will be given a hearing before County Judge George Batterton.

Modern version: They were married and lived scrappily ever after.

SYNOD'S OPENING SESSION TONIGHT

Two Hundred Delegates Are Expected To Be In Attendance

THE PROGRAM GIVEN IN FULL

Paris people are making extensive preparations for entertaining the members of the Presbyterian Synod, which will be here for a three-days' session, beginning at 7:30 o'clock to-night, at the First Presbyterian church. The delegates will be guests of the citizens, and will be entertained at the homes of Paris people during their three-days' stay.

The last meeting of the Synod held in this city was in 1870, fifty years ago. At that time the pastor of the local church was Rev. L. H. Blanton, one of the foremost ministers of the denomination in the State, and he planned and carried out the greatest meeting ever held in the State by the Synod. A new church building had just been completed. On the return of the Synod to Paris the sessions will again be held in a new church, one of the handiest and most complete church edifices in Central Kentucky.

The flight of time and the inexorable laws of nature have removed from earthly scenes two of the church's most beloved pastors, Rev. L. H. Blanton and Dr. E. H. Rutherford, but in the present pastor, Rev. E. S. Smylie, a young man of great eloquence and power, there has come a worthy successor to these men of God, who were a power in their community and with their congregations. Rev. Smylie has the faculty of making a success of everything he undertakes, and the meeting of the Synod to be inaugurated to-night will go down in history as one of the most profitable and instructive ever held by that body.

Miss Elizabeth Crutcher presided at the piano, and just before the ceremony Miss Corilla Eberhardt, of Georgetown, a former resident of Paris, sang two solos, "I Love You Truly," and "At The Dawning." The ceremony took place in the large reception hall, which was prettily decorated in Southern smilax, white chrysanthemums and palms. The bride wore a traveling suit of navy blue with hat and shoes to match, and carried a corsage bouquet of lilies of the valley and Ophelia roses. Miss Clark, the maid of honor, wore an afternoon costume, of dark blue silk with a corsage bouquet of Ophelia roses.

The bride is the handsome daughter of Mrs. Walter Clark, Tax Commissioner of Bourbon county, and the late Mr. Walter Clark. She is a popular young woman and an accomplished musician. The groom is a young business man of Philadelphia, being manager in that city of two large steel manufacturing corporations.

Following the ceremony and the assembled friends and relatives, the young couple left in their new touring car for Philadelphia, their future home. They were the recipients of many handsome and useful presents.

Among the many out-of-town visitors for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Clark, of Boston, Mass.; Mr. Ray Clark, of Battle Creek, Mich.; Mr. Melville Brown, New York; Mr. Paul Harper, Pittsburg, Pa.; Benj. Hoffman, Philadelphia. Mr. Hoffman remained over for a several days' visit to Mr. Wallace W. Mitchell.

While E. Williams, of Louisville, was in the Postal Telegraph office yesterday transacting some business a sneak thief stole a valuable black leather suitcase from his auto in front of the office. The suitcase contained a large amount of clothing and other valuable goods. The loss was reported to the police.

Two valuable raincoats, stolen some days ago from John Fudold, Paris merchant, were recovered by Patrolman Geo. W. Judy. A negro suspect working on the Tollie Young farm near Paris, was trailed by the officer. In some way the negro learned he was "wanted" and escaped. The raincoats were left behind and were restored to Mr. Fudold.

PARISIANS HELP TENNESSEE

As the result of an officer's visit to the home of a Millersburg negro Sunday morning in search of a supposed cache of contraband liquor, both red and white variety, R. T. Murray, City Marshal of Millersburg, lies in the Good Samaritan Hospital, in Lexington, suffering from a bullet wound in the stomach and groin, and Price Johnson, colored, is a prisoner in the Paris jail, charged with the shooting. At the hospital yesterday it was stated that the exact extent of the wounded man's injuries had not been determined, and that an operation might become necessary.

Murray had received information that led him to suspect the presence of liquor at Johnson's home. Securing a search-and-seizure warrant, and accompanied by Harry Linville, a former peace officer of that city, he went to the house and proceeded to search for the liquor. Noticing a trunk in one corner Marshal Murray demanded the keys so as to search it, when, according to Linville, Johnson ordered him from his home, at the same time picking up a twenty-two caliber rifle which had been standing near the trunk. With this he opened fire, one bullet striking Murray in the side. Another bullet struck Fozzi Henderson, colored, bystander, in the arm. Murray returned the fire, but his aim was bad. Linville disarmed Johnson and placed him under arrest. Owing to threats of violence, Johnson was at once brought to the Paris jail, while the wounded officer was hurried to the Lexington hospital. Johnson claimed the shooting was accidental. County officials say he has served two terms in the penitentiary.

At the hospital it was stated yesterday that in the search for the liquor Murray entered the front door of the Johnson home, while Linville guarded the rear entrance. Johnson drew a revolver as Linville entered and Marshal Murray attempted to shoot Johnson. The hammer snapped, but the cartridge missed fire, when Johnson turned and shot Murray.
